

Tiffany Eckhardt and Dave Steel

Short bio 2010

Tiffany Eckhardt and Dave Steel have joined forces once again to produce Tiffany's seventh album "Sunday". Written by Tiffany and recorded and produced by Dave at their home in country Victoria near Winchelsea, the new album has already attracted rave reviews.

Tiffany has a resolutely openhearted approach to writing and performing, for six albums her crystalline voice has rung with an unflinching reflection that draws her audience in. Dave Steel is also an award winning songwriter and as an instrumentalist, has played with many of Australia's best known artists. The combination of the two is compelling, - acoustic guitars, dobro, mandolin, harmonica, - Australian folk/roots at its best...

" The new album SUNDAY is the most fearless and accomplished of her career...vivid emotional storytelling with with the expansive atmosphere of a world class producer and multi instrumentalist, Dave Steel." Michael Dwyer